NATURE plays no favorites when a twister strikes. Heavy winds uprooted this tree and caused $300 worth of damage when the trunk fell on a Florida Highway Patrol car parked at the South Bay home of Patrolman E. L. Woods, who was off duty. The second FHP car, driven by Cpl. R. Windham, in charge of the Pahokee FHP station, was on the scene near South Bay Town Hall shortly after the storm to assess the damage.

Electric power service was interrupted, television and radio antennas were toppled and tree trunks were uprooted over a wide area south of Lake Okeechobee Friday when what was described as a miniature tornado churned by a cold front squall line smashed through about 10:30 a. m.

No accurate estimates of damage was available; however, Florida Power & Light Co., officials said service was restored to most areas by 12:30 and somewhat later for isolated areas. Southern Bell reported only minor damage since most of their cables are underground.

Postal Inspectors Nab Mail Thief

Following complaints that certain special delivery mail was not reaching addresses at Belle Glade, postal inspectors successfully traced the source of the trouble and arrested a 23-year-old Negro messenger at Belle Glade post office, according to Postmaster George P. Farnall.

Farnall stated that complaints to his office said amounts of money was also missing from mail which the would-be recipients knew should have been in the mail.

On Jan. 13 postal authorities arrived at Belle Glade and later charged Quinon Harrell, a substitute messenger who had been working with the post office since June, 1956, with opening special delivery mail and taking the money therein.

Inspectors J. E. Dollins and M. M. Livingston, both of Atlanta made the check, Farnall said, and after Harrell was confronted with certain evidence, he signed a written confession. He was taken to the U. S. Commissioner at West Palm Beach and released under $500 bond pending trial.

Temperatures Will Drop As Weather Makes Cycle Freeze Due Saturday

Temperatures dropped ten degrees from noon Friday until that evening, Paul Mott, Frost Warning Service, reports. A prefrontal squall line moving southeast at 58 m. p. h. brought a tornado which hit the area at 10:43.

By Saturday morning temperatures ranged 30-39 with ice reported at Six Mile Bend, some frost. Sunday temperatures were 26-36 with locally heavy frost east and southeast of the lake. Monday morning saw a 30-42 range before a warming trend appeared to bring a minimum of 60 Tuesday.

Future outlook is for colder weather in the north Thursday night with freezing temperatures over most of the state by Saturday night.

Mounts Speaks At C-C Kaffeeklatch

Palm Beach County Agricultural Agent Marvin U. Mounts and Glades Livestock Manager George Young were featured speakers at the first Chamber of Commerce coffee hour of 1959, sponsored by the chamber.

Young's remarks sketched the present problems of cattlemen in the Glades while Agent Mounts took a long look at the future of agriculture for the Glades. Both speakers presented the basic problems of their industries and a small crowd responded with several minutes of questions and an exchange of ideas following the main remarks.

Young spoke of a cattle survey to provide adequate information to plan a cattle program and said cattlemen needed more information locally on the factors which affected the cattle industry.

"Changes should be expected and planned for," Mounts began .He said early planners of agriculture in the county weren't enthused about co-ops; however, co-ops may control the major portion of production now.

He said we could expect Congress to make an effort in this season to settle farmers' problems through government control, and that business might control farms "if we're not careful."

City Solves Bug In Drainage Plan

Following a conference between city and county officials Friday, City Manager C. B. Talmadge announced that they had worked out a solution to the drainage problems for S. E. Ave E. The problem was a factor in holding up face-lifting of that avenue.

Talmadge said County Engineer S. R. Middleton and Commissioner Roy Michaels met with city commissioners and reached an agreement on widening and deepening an existing drainage ditch from S. E. Ave. E to S. E. Ave. G on 4th St.

Talmadge said Wednesday that only one piece of property was holding up final rights-of-way settlements to widen Ave. E. No date for the project start was set.

In another matter, Talmadge clarified an aspect of the sewer system by explaining that the system would cross Main St. to include the area from S. Canal St. to S. E. Ave. C, a phase which was not originally in the initial sewer plan.

He said most phases of the sewer work would be completed by the end of the month and that the plant might be finished by July with full operation of the bobtailed system planned for early October.

Concert Membership Are Still Available Tonight

Memberships for Everglades Mutual Concert Assn. will be accepted up to show time tonight at Sugarland Auditorium, Clewiston, Mrs. R. V. Allison, Belle Glade membership chairman, stated.

The Chanticleers, musical quartet, will be featured tonight at 8:15. Feb. 25's concert will feature the Silver Springs Players with Agatha Christie's play, "The Mouse Trap." On Mar. 10 Karen Duke, soloist and guitarist, will present a program of folk songs and ballads.

Memberships are $5 for adults $2.50 for students.

Lift Station Work Is Final Phase Of Sewerage Plan

A third phase of Belle Glade's sewer project has begun with the construction of the main lift station at N. W. Ave. E on the southwest side of 14th St. Two other lift stations will not be started until equipment suppliers notify the city about delivery dates.

These three lift station, being built at a cost of $101,723.68 by B. A. Roemer Construction Co., will handle Systems 12 and 14, the initial phase of city sewers. The station on Avenue E is the main station which will eventually handle the city-wide sewage on its last leg of the trip to the treatment plant.

S tation 12 is to be located on the west side of S. W. 2nd St. behind the medical building at S. W. Ave. B, and Station 14 will be in the middle of the block on S. W. Ave. C between 6th and 8th St.

Both units will be underground; however, the main station will be an attractive one-story building 22 by 36 feet wide and ten feet tall. It will be the only building in town with a "basement." The lower floor is 18 feet down in the muck. The outside of the block building will be properly landscaped.

Housed in the station will be three pumps with gasoline auxiliary motors in case of power failures. Capacity of the two six-inch pumps will be 1,200 gallons per minute while the larger eight-inch pump will have a 2,500 gpm capacity. Engineers say this equipment is more than enough to handle the load.

Each pump turns itself on and off depending on the level of water to be pumped. Water enters the station at a depth of 10 feet and leaves at a level of about three feet.

Sewage flows by gravity to the collection point of System 12, the lift station. Pump 12 forces the water into another main which again flows by gravity to Station 14 which forces the sewage from its own system along with that of System 12 along the path to the main station.

Both smaller stations are placed on a 9 by 20-foot base. Pumping units of System 14 are somewhat larger than No. 12.

Engineers roughly estimate that city-wide sewers could be completed for another $500,000 which wuold put the total cost of sewers at about $1.1 million, the original estimate for the plan.

Crime Increase Seen By Chief

An attempted armed robbery at Roy's Fifth Street Market early Saturday morning was another in a long string of felonies and attempted crimes plaguing Belle Glade police, reports Chief Charles Goodlett this week.

Goodlett said January's breaking and entering cases showed a 30% increase over December an dthe incidents were the most numerous in the past three years. Many of the criminals which have been apprehended so far this year are responsible for more than one crime, he said.

The work is being done by persons with previous criminal records and about 10% have been classed as crimes of necessity (where the person stole

New Hours, Yes, But Fun Goes On At B. G. Teen Town

AND IT'S LIKE THIS ALL THE TIME at the newly organized Teen Town in the Belle Glade Hotel building on South Main St. where youngsters of all ages in the Glades have been bopping and hopping and generally enjoying the community's effort to provide proper recreational facilities for school children. The young folks seen here dancing up a fog agree: "That do make it nice!"

New hours go into effect this weekend for the new Teen Town on S. Main St.; however, judging from the past weeks' fun and recreation provided for the Glades youngsters, there will be no interruption of gaiety and a packed house is expected for each session, according to chaperones and operators of the former Blue Room of the Belle Glade Hotel.

While the first session on opening night featured free refreshments, a small charge is being made now; however, it should be clearly understood that the organization will operate on a non-profit basis and all income will be used only to defray expenses.

The treasury stands with a balance of $94.27 which does not include funds from the music furnished.

New hours of operation are: Grade 6 3:30-5:30 Fridays; grade 7-8 7-10 p. m. while all 9-12th graders may stay until midnight

Uncle Dan From Democrat River Says

Dear Mister Editor:

My sermon this week is on buttermilk. I took this text on account of what happened to me in town last Saturday: I had me a meal at one of them public eating places and when they brung the buttermilk, it tasted like it was made of talcum powder and lemon extract. I asked the lady about it and she said it was agin the law in most states now to serve the old fashioned buttermilk like we made in the churn. "It ain't healthy," she said. "It's got to be pastoorized."

Now I ask you, Mister Editor, ain't that a fine howdy-do! It's legal in some places to sell beer but it ain't legal to sell churned buttermilk because it ain't healthy. I reckon that's why these old farmers around here die off when they git to be 85 or 90, just drinking too much of that churned buttermilk. I knowed a preacher out this way onct that used to drink a quart of the stuff at a meal, then git up and say he gueseed he'd be stepping over to see brother Smith. And then he'd walk ten mile to brother Smith's house. But that churned buttermilk finally got him in the prime of his youth, about 86 he was when it happened.

When I was knee-high to a puddle duck we used to keep the buttermilk in the spring house, and it wasn't fitten to drink unless you had to spoon off a frog or two from the top.

Of course, I reckon a feller could git some bootleg buttermilk in them big cities. He could give the waiter a wink and git some churned buttermilk if he'd take it off the premises to drink.

And this brings up the question of what they would do with a feller if they caught him driving under the influence of churned buttermilk. I can hear him now telling the Judge, "Listen Your Honor, I just had a couple glasses, and so help me, it was pastoorized and I drunk it on the premises." And the Judge would give out the customary sentence. "Another one of them just two glasses fellers, huh? Lock him up, officer, and I hereby and herewith, under the authority granted me by this great sovereign state, order the churn confiscated and destroyed."

In another ten year, Mister Editor. It'll be illegal and unhealthy fer a farmer to drink water from his own well out of a gourd. When you stop to take note of these things. It's easy to see why them transquilizer pills is selling so good.

Well, Mister Editor, I got to knock off now and go hide my old lady's churn. I see a couple suspicious looking strangers coming down the road.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

517-Pounder Will Wrestle Friday

"Mighty Jumbo" nearly as large as his four opponents put together will cast his hulking shadow across the National Guard armory wrestling spotlight tomorrow night at Al Ritchie's wrestling show.

"Jumbo," who claims to weigh 517 pounds (and who are we to doubt it?) is matched with Benny Trudell, Tito Gomez, Dick Steinborn and the fearer and much-hated "Black" Jack Dillon. Mighty Jumbo will give $100 to anyone who can pin his shoulders for the count of three.

Three other matches, headed by a women's co-feature contest, add heft to the program. Judy Grable, the "Barefoot Contessa," and Ella Walock tangle in a three fall, 45-minute limit.

Black Jack Dillon and Dick Steinborn start the show with a one fall, 15-minute contest; Gomez and Trudell will be matched in a bout of equal length.

Ritchie says one match is enough for "Jumbo" in one night. I'm worried about the ring supports being weakened if we let "Jumbo" see too much action," he said.

"The show looks terrific; no one should miss it who can possibly get to the armory." The first match starts at 8:45.

Sixth Grade Reporting

We sixth graders are now realizing that after this week, we will have just one semester until we will be in Junior High. That will be a big step for us and we certainly hope we can take that big jump.

Our classes have been on a long and interesting tour of the Eastern Hemisphere in our Social Studies. Most of us are now in Italy and will complete the southern European tour before taking off for parts of the Near East.

Several days ago if strangers had come to our rooms, they would have thought they were in the primary rooms. We were having a good time with, of all things, toothpicks! From several very attractive examples of Mrs. Earwood's (the High School Art teacher), we made up our own original toothpick dseigns and posted them on colored construction paper. The results were very unusual so we voted on the best four in each room and put them on our hall bulletin board, Those who won were:

Suzanna Williams, Jeanne Freels, Steve Halbrook, Nancy Prescott, Irene Ashley, Sharon Amedee, Reba Brown, Susie Schoeppel, Carolyn Wilson, Betty Ann Barbree, Janet Hotard, Cynthia Nutt.

Last Thursday Miss Gertrude Chafner, Handwriting Consultant with Zaner-Bloser Company was in our school to give several classroom demonstrations in handwriting and after school she met with the faculty.

Fifteen sixth grade girls were chosen by the teachers to assist in the First Grade classes by reading stories to the children. The first grade teachers report that we are doing a good job. We enjoy doing this very much.

Seacrest Stops Pahokee

Seacrest High basketballers stopped Pahokee's Blue Devils Friday night 51-33. While the Sea Hawks only hit one more field goal than the losers, they sank 23 of 28 free throws from the charity line.

Bill Woolright hit 22 points for Seacrest and George McElhenny got 12 for the losers.

Lake Worth dumped Clewiston 89-32 in another bit of Friday action.

A claim on some 400,000 acres of Florida land by the Miccosukee Seminole Indians will be examined by congress in early 1959. The Indians contend they have vested rights to the land because they were never conquered by the U. S. and have never signed a peace treaty.

Basketball Player Of The Week

Neal Livingston, son of Mrs. Kathleen Livingston, did a good job at the Clewiston game Jan. 9. Neal, a senior this year, has earned two letters in varsity basketball. He is 6' and weighs 145 lbs. Neal also played junior high and B string basketball and is playing forward and center.

Coach Ouellette says "Livingston does a tremendous job controlling the backboards and getting rebounds. His timely passing has set up many scores for the Belle Glade quintet."

Story Tells Of Florida History

Although Florida was first colonized in 1565, forty-two years before Jamestown, Virginia was successful, it took 280 years to reach statehood as the nation's 27th state.

The "Southern Bellephone News," Southern Bell's employee magazine, this month features the history of Florida's growth and development under the five flags of Spain, France, England, the Confederacy and the United State. Z. C. O'Farrell ,Southern Bell's Manager, here, said the magazine has a circulation of almost 80,000 and it is sent direct to the homes of all Southern Bell employees in the nine southeastern states.

O'Farrell said the history of Florida covers a much longer period and is much more varied than the history of almost any other state but is probably one of the least known since such a high percentage of Florida residents are comparatively recent arrivals.

Along with the historical data is a 1765 "new and accurate" map which excludes Lake Okeechobee; however, a body of water centrally located in the south part of Florida is called Lake of the Holy Spirit by early map makers.

Your Library

"Let your child read the best stories said a wise man long ago. These will influence him in the finest way all the days of his life."

Mrs. Bettie Harris, librarian announces that Sears Roebuck and Co., has presented the Belle Glade Public Library with 16 volumes of juvenile books.

These books which are available now at yuor library are the stories that the children love. Children when given a fair chance, choose the best. This is a well established fact among the leading educators of to-day. Young children exposed to both good and shoddy reading, really prefer the good.

Included in these books are the childrens favorite among the Newberry and Caldecott prize books. The readers will find fun and information and inspiration in fairy tales, myths and legends and courageous tales of pioneers and days of long ago. They will also find stories of school and sports, adventure, animal and outdoor life worth while mysteries. Here, too, they will discover inspiring tales of leaders and heroes.

The names of these volumes are The Childrens Hour, Best Loved Poems, Myths and Legends, Caravan of Fun, School and Sports, Science and Fiction Guide, Leaders and Heroes, Road to Adventure, Favorite Animal Stories, Stories of Long Ago, Along Blazed Trails, From Many Lands, Old Time Favorites, Stories of Today, Favorite Mystery Stories, First Story book, Favorite Fairy Tales.

BIBLE

NEW THINGS

By Robert Lovette

Human nature imparts to us a desire for new things. It is a joy to receive something new. When we accept Christ we receive something new.

We receive a new birth. "Jesus answered and said unto him, verily, verily I say unto thee, except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." (John 3:3).

We receive a new life. "Therefore we are received with him by baptism into death; That life as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father ,even so we also should walk in newness of life." (Romans 6:4).

We receive a new strength. "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint." (Isaiah 40:31).

Do you desire something new? Then, let Christ come into your heart. He will make you a new creature in Christ Jesus.

some attempts to control it in the past by labor had been too hasty.

Specifically about Palm Beach County he said that such problems as the depth of muck, the variations of crops and the changes thereto were coming about constantly and growers must look ahead.

He discussed the possibility of developing a frozen food industry in the county by saying "If you can't whip 'em, join 'em."

He said the citrus industry had difficulty but policed their industry and made great progress. "We can do similar things" he told his audience, "We should not be pessimistic."

Financing For 200 Homes

"If the recession of 1958 did nothing else," he said, "it made people conscious of the value of saving. Many individuals and families stepped up their savings program so as to build a sizeable cushion to tide them over any financial distress that might result from a deepening of the recession. We have every reason to believe that now that these people have learned how easy it is to save and how profitable in terms of the earnings they receive, they will continue to save at an expanding rate."

James A. Ball, Jr., was elected to a one year directorship to fill the unexpired term of Hugh J. Bratley.

A. E. Kirchman was elected for a three year term, as was Robt. E. Matthews, Jr.

Read Psalm 121

Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of Jordan. (Genesis 13:10.) Unto thee lift I up mine eyes, O thou that dwellest in the heavens. (Psalm 123:1.)

The Sunday school teacher had been reviewing the story of the strife between the herdsmen of Abraham and of Lot. Abraham suggested they separate, with Lot having the choice of the direction he would go. As the teacher read the verse, "Lot lifted up his eyes" he was interrupted by a small boy asking, "He didn't look high enough, did he?"

Lot lifted his eyes just far enough to see the rich plain which promised easy living and pleasant days. He pitched his tent toward Sodom. His look led him into the place of temptation and eventually into sin.

The psalmist said, "Unto thee lift I up mine eyes, O thou that dwellest in the heavens." This is the secret of overcoming temptation. He who never slumbers has power to lift us above the things that perish and to give us courage to choose the things that abide. His power is sufficient - our feet do not stumble so long as our eyes are on Him.

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to look beyond the false promises of the tempter in order that we may see Thee. Teach us to call upon Thee for strength and vision when we face temptations. Preserve us from the destructive power of all evil that assails us. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Today I will overcome temptation by lifting my eyes to God.

ABUNDANT LIFE

GOD SHARES YOUR INTERESTS

Lee Braxton has had fellowship in more homes of Christian businessmen than any other man we know. He has found that one is as mistaken to believe that businessmen are not interested in God as he is to believe that God is not interested in businessmen.

God is interested in whatever you do. With respect to business, God is in business, too—many businesses, the greatest of which is the saving of the souls of lost and condemned humanity.

God is the greatest of all businessmen and he constantly seeks qualified partners. In turn, he offers himself and all of his infinite resources to his partners for their own businesses here on earth.

Not long ago Lee and I exchanged greetings with an acquaintance in an Indiana city. We thanked him for all he was doing to help win souls to the Lord. He wouldn't hear of our thanks. "It's the other way around," he said. "I am the one who is grateful."

He said that as soon as he accepted God's partnership offer and used his faith, the Lord blest him beyond his fondest dreams. "I began at first," he explained, "by building small frame houses, one at a time. Later I was able to build three at a time, and now, a few years later, I have several large real estate developments under way. I have been able to be a greater blessing to my church and to the Lord's work. All the glory and all the praise should go to God."

That is quite an admission for a competent businessman. To God belongs the glory and the praise.

It is God's will for us to prosper, in soul, mind and body. Lee Braxton and countless others have learned that God is a perfect partner to have in any business, for with him as a partner, failure is impossible. When failure is impossible there can be only prosperity. As you work for him, he works for you. In mutual interest, there is mutual aid—and mutual success.

The world's population today is almost three billion people. The goal of God's business is to save souls, bodies and minds of every one of them.

For this important business, God calls qualified businessmen as partners.

Every businessman should realize his need for a partnership with God and his value in return as a partner with God! To realize that God is interested in businessmen and their businesses is the beginning of successful business careers.

God shares your interests whatever they may be. Will you share his interest in the saving of souls by helping take his gospel to every creature in every nation?

tact with the people of the various areas and to cover a wide range of experience, according to President Jones.

Market Awarded Nat'l Certificate

Receiving an appropriate certificate this week denoting it a "Nationally Certified Livestock Auction Market" was Glades Livestock Market Assn., Belle Glade, Florida.

"Nationally Certified" designation is awarded qualifying livestock auction markets by the National Association of Livestock Auction Markets on the basis of their operations and services conducted according to the national code of business standards. The code is the industry's own standards of market services and operations as public livestock markets.

The certificate as issued carries the name of the market and a certification by the chairman of the Association's Livestock Market Council that the market has been found to meet the standards set forth in 17 operating principles condensed from the code. It is also signed by the market owner. As such it constitutes a mutual pledge to the livestock public, consignors and buyers alike, of continuing high standards of market services and responsibility.

The National Association of Livestock Auction Markets is the national business trade association of the livestock markets industry, composed of slightly more than 2300 independent auction markets in 48 states. Its administrative offices are in Kansas City, Mo.

All livestock markets in interstate commerce are now subject to the registration, bonding and fair trade practice provisions of the federal Packers & Stockyards Act as amended by Congress last September.

City Prisoner Can't Get Enough

Robert Ryles, Belle Glade Negro, and the City of Belle Glade are old friends, but something's wrong with the city's hospitality. Seems that every time Ryles is asked to visit city jail by Judge N. D. Lloyd, Ryles "leaves jail without permission."

It all began in 1953 when Ryles escaped jail with a 29-day deficit. In September 1958 Ryles was picked up and charged with drunk driving and having no drivers license. He got $205 fine or 90 days for that and, of course, a check of his records showed the 29-day debt. (90 plus 29 plus 30 so far.)

He began his time and became a trusty. Dec. 15, 1958 he was charged with being an accessory before and after the fact to smuggling liquor into the jail. (Add 55 more days to the unserved time.)

Dec. 19, apparently fed up with it all, Ryles escaped; however, he was caught the next day. (Another 30 days, please.) Let's not forget that while awaiting trial for his Dec. 19 escape, Ryles tried to break out of the cell block and was charged with destroying city property. (That's $105 fine or 90 days more.)

Jan. 8, 1959, Ryles ran off from a street crew. He cut shackles off his legs this time. (Destroying city property again!) That meant another escape charge, too, when he was captured later that night. (Still with us?) And he didn't "sign-out" for his bedding, which is an automatic 30-day fine, too.

To simplify your arithmetic, Ryles owes 221 days before trial on the last escape and property desruction case. Now the police have information that others may be interested in his fate: He may owe City of Tampa between 110 and 115 days, too.

Two hundred twenty-one plus (we assume) 90 plus 30 plus 110 equals 451, or thereabouts.

JOB & WORKER

By
J. W. Mosley, Jr.
Manager
Florida State Employment Service
Belle Glade, Fla.

Finding Jobs . . .

Recent press releases by the Florida Industrial Commission, Tallahassee, state that the Florida State Employment Service found jobs for 195,295 workers during 1958. This was third highest in the history of this agency, being exceeded only by placements made in 1956 and 1957. The number of placements is made more notable by the fact that the entire state experienced most unseasonable weather during the year.

Mosley

Led The State . . .

The Belle Glade office made 990 nonagricultural placements in 1958, 578 less than the previous year but led the state in agricultural placements. Most of the difference in the number of placements occurred in the unskilled categories, as a steady demand for skilled workers has been noted throughout the year.

It's Difficult . . .

Industrial Commission Chairman James T. Vocelle said that "finding jobs for workers in a recession year is a difficult task. We had to shift all personnel we could to the handling of an unprecedented volume of enemployment insurance claims and this severely depleted the personnel resources we could use on job finding. At the same time he added, "we realized and did everything possible to materialize the fact that finding jobs for workers is the most effective way to reduce jobless claims. When the jobs are not available the task is an impossible one," Vocelle added. "The faith of employers of the state in the ability of our economy to swiftly recuperate was the outstanding reason we were able to locate 195,295 jobs for workers in such a harsh economic climate as last year represented," he said.

Fewer Claimants . . .

We here in the Belle Glade office have made every effort to place persons drawing unemployment compensation, and we are glad to be able to report that we have fewer claimants in our area than in any other office area in the state.

Free Tickets For Opry

Free tickets for youngsters will be available from merchants in the Glades for the big Grand Ole Opry show Jan. 31 at the Belle Glade armory, 1st Lt. Jowell Bass, company commander, announces.

Performers from Nashville's famous show will be on hand for two shows at 7 and 9 p. m. with a special contest session for young folks during the first show.

Be sure to see next week's Herald for the list of merchants in the Glades who'll have free tickets for the kids. Anytime you see a Grand Ole Opry sign in a merchants window, be sure to ask for the free tickets when you make your purchases.

Jobless Benefits Down

Florida jobless insurance payments dropped six per cent in December to $1,645,522, reflecting better business conditions, reports Industrial Commission Chairman James T. Vocelle this week.

The claims of many Eastern Air Line workers not involved in the flight engineers strike but furloughed by the company when the strike occured, made December payments higher than expected.

Belle Glade was one of 20 state offices where December payments showed a drop in claims. The amount was $7,880, a drop of 4,867.

Rogers Introduces New Economy Bills

Congressman Paul G. Rogers, Florida's Sixth District Congressman, has introduced two major bills to change the House of Representatives aimed at providing greater economy in the operation of the government.

The first would change the rules of the House to require a roll call vote on all appropriation bills of a public character. Rogers said that during the 84th Congress some 33 billion dollars were passed without a yes or no vote and the total during the 85th Congress was in excess of 20 billion dollars.

The second bill would provide that two or more members could introduce jointly any bill, memorial or resolution as in now done in the Senate.

"Passage of this rule change would result in savings of thousands of dollars in unnecessary printing costs," Rogers said, "and eliminate a great deal of wasted time and effort now necessary in comparing, word for word, the hundreds of bills concerned to determine if they are identical."

Rogers pointed out that during the early days of the last Congress, in one instance, out of 3,000 bills introduced, 59 were identical. Rogers has restated his intention to do all that an individual member can do to bring about greater economy in government.

Spanish Lessons Over Radio Now

A program of Conversational Spanish radio lessons will begin on January 27, 1959. The lessons will be broadcast daily (Monday through Friday) at 10:30 a. m. by Radio Station WSWN, Belle Glade.

The lessons for the remainder of this school year are designed for the third grade level. However, according to present plans the program will gradually be extended to include grades 4, 5 and 6.

The program of Spanish radio lessons has been made possible through the cooperation of the Rotary Clubs of Palm Beach County, the Management of Radio Station WSWN, and the County School Board. The Rotary Clubs are providing the tapes for the radio lessons and the guidebooks for teachers.

Approximately 110 elementary teachers will participate in the program this next semester. In preparation for this work many of these teachers are now taking a course in Conversational Spanish which has been offered through the cooperation of the Adult Education Program.

Although this program is beamed at the third grade level parents may also be interested in listening to these lessons so that they may enjoy conversing in Spanish with their children.

The dedication headed by the late Bishop Branscomb was so outstanding that it is felt that many will want to hear the program again, along with those who will be hearing it for the first time.

The 3 to 3:30 p. m. segment of the broadcast will consist of the service of praise in music by the Chancel Choir, followed by the bishop's message and the act of dedication.
